INAUGURATION PREPARATIONS

Arrangements for the Spectacular Features of the Occasion Nearly Completed.

WILL BE ON FINE SCALE

Reviewing Stands Are Uniform and of Unique Design—Electrical Display Will Be of Unusual Magnitude—Elaborate Floral and Other Decorations—Other Features.

Washington, Feb. 28.—The preparations for the inauguration of President McKinley next Monday are rapidly nearing completion and without any signs of delay there will be a larger crowd of strangers present to witness the ceremonies than Washington has seen in many years. The general inaugural committee has been hard at work for more than a month perfecting the arrangements and the spectacular features of the celebration as well as the general arrangements made for the occasion will be on an exceptionally fine scale. The reviewing stands which have been erected at intervals along Pennsylvania avenue from the foot of the capitol grounds to Seventeenth street have been uniform and unique in design and the general decorations of the city, especially along the line of parade will be more lavish and artistic in character than formerly. Although Pennsylvania avenue will be illuminated during the three nights of the 4th, 5th and 6th of March as rarely before, a special feature will be made of that part extending from Fifteenth street to Seventeenth street. The north front of the white house grounds. This section has been designated the "Court of Honor," and many special features of illumination will be introduced. The circular drive in front of the executive mansion is included in this grand scheme of illumination and a large force of workmen has been engaged for two weeks or more in the erection of pillars of classic shape at frequent intervals along this drive. From these pillars will radiate electric illumination of brilliant effects.
